Business Continuity

Dear business partner,

the global COVID 19 pandemic and its rapid spread is presenting us all with unprecedented challenges - in both our professional and private lives. The management of Eschmann Textures International GmbH assesses the situation on a daily basis and takes measures to protect our employees and our customers within the framework of the official regulations.

As a manufacturing company, we continue our business operations as far as possible, whereby safety and protective measures with regard to health and hygiene have the highest priority. In the event that we have to discontinue business operations due to official orders and/or a possible accumulation of infections, at individual operating sites or as a whole, we have set up the possibility for parts of the administration and sales departments to work from home. You can reach your usual contact persons by e-mail and our key account managers on the familiar mobile phone numbers. Ensure communication with you on current projects, inquiries and much more we through this measure.

Due to the dynamic developments of the last few days, we cannot rule out at this point in time that there can and will be delays in the processing of tools but also feedback on inquiries and much more. We will of course inform you about this in a timely manner.

We hope for you and your employees that you will remain healthy and look to the future with confidence. Together we can achieve this!

Eschmann Textures International GmbH
